HISTORY · Social and religious reform movements: 20th century

UNDERSTAND IT FIRST

What changed after 1900? The 19th-century reformers were mostly upper-caste, urban and educated, and they asked for reform from above. In the 20th century, the people who suffered most from caste, the depressed classes, non-Brahmins and women, began to organise for themselves. They used satyagraha (mass protest), newspapers, political parties and elections, and demanded rights, not favours: entry to temples, use of public tanks and roads, seats in legislatures and jobs. Reform now joined the national movement and the making of the Constitution (Art 15, 17, reservations). Learn it as Non-Brahmin and temple-entry movements → Ambedkar → Gandhi's work → women's organisations → Telugu lands → Impact.

Key 20th-century movements

1. Non-Brahmin and temple-entry movements in the south

3. Women's organisations and laws

- Women's Indian Association (1917, Adyar): Annie Besant, Margaret Cousins, Dorothy Jinarajadasa; demanded votes for women. National Council of Women in India (1925); All India Women's Conference (1927): education, then wider reform.

POLITY · Right to Information (RTI)

UNDERSTAND IT FIRST

What is it? In a democracy the people are the real masters, so they have a right to know what their government is doing with their money and power. The Right to Information Act, 2005 lets any citizen ask any public authority for information, without giving a reason, and get a reply within a fixed time. It makes government transparent and accountable and helps fight corruption. The Supreme Court had already said the right to know is part of freedom of speech and expression (Art 19(1)(a)); the Act gives it a procedure. As a government employee you will both use it and answer it, so know the sections, time limits and appeals well.

How an RTI request moves

1. Background

- Courts: State of UP v Raj Narain (1975) and S.P. Gupta (1981): the right to know flows from Art 19(1)(a). Movement: Mazdoor Kisan Shakti Sangathan (MKSS), Rajasthan, led by Aruna Roy in the 1990s: public hearings (jan sunwai) on village works. States first: Tamil Nadu and Goa (1997). Freedom of Information Act, 2002 (never came into force). RTI Act passed 15 June 2005, in force fully on 12 October 2005.

2. Important sections

Section	What it says
2(f), 2(h), 2(j)	Information = any material in any form (records, emails, samples). Public authority = bodies set up by the Constitution, laws or government orders, and bodies (including NGOs) substantially financed by government. Right to information includes inspecting works and records and taking certified copies or samples.
4	Proactive (suo motu) disclosure: each authority must publish its functions, officers, budgets, schemes and decisions so that people need not apply.
5, 6	Every office names a Public Information Officer (PIO) and an Assistant PIO. Apply in writing or electronically, in English, Hindi or the local official language; fee ₹10 (Centre; States fix their own); BPL applicants pay nothing; no reason need be given.
7	Reply within 30 days; 48 hours if it concerns life or liberty; +5 days if filed through an APIO; 40 days if third-party information is involved; no reply = deemed refusal.
8, 9, 11	Exemptions (Sec 8): information harming sovereignty, security, strategic or economic interests, forbidden by courts, breaching Parliament's privilege, trade secrets, foreign governments' confidential information, endangering life, impeding investigation, Cabinet papers (until the decision is taken), and personal information (Sec 8(1)(j), widened by the DPDP Act, 2023). Most exempt matters can be released after 20 years (Sec 8(3)). Sec 9: copyright of a private person. Sec 11: third-party information needs notice to the third party.
19	First appeal to an officer senior to the PIO in the same office within 30 days (decided in 30, at most 45 days); second appeal to the Central or State Information Commission within 90 days.
20	Penalty on the PIO for delay or refusal without reason: ₹250 a day, up to ₹25,000; the Commission may also recommend disciplinary action.
24	Intelligence and security organisations in the Second Schedule (e.g. IB, R&AW, BSF, CRPF, NSG) are outside the Act, except information on corruption and human rights violations (human rights information needs the Commission's approval and is given within 45 days).

3. Information Commissions

- Central Information Commission (CIC): Chief Information Commissioner + up to 10 Information Commissioners; appointed by the President on a committee of the PM, Leader of the Opposition in the Lok Sabha and a Union Cabinet Minister nominated by the PM. The RTI (Amendment) Act, 2019 let the Central Government fix their term and salary (the rules set 3 years; earlier it was 5 years or 65). Removal by the President after a Supreme Court inquiry (or on other stated grounds).
- State Information Commission (SIC): appointed by the Governor on a committee of the Chief Minister, Leader of the Opposition and a Cabinet Minister. Supreme Court (2019): the office of the Chief Justice of India is a public authority under the RTI Act.

SCIENCE · National S&T and innovation policy, national missions and emerging technologies

UNDERSTAND IT FIRST

What is it? A country grows rich and secure when it can create new knowledge and technology itself instead of importing it. So the Government sets a policy (the broad aim), funds research, and runs missions: time-bound programmes with a clear target and budget (for example, '5 million tonnes of green hydrogen a year by 2030'). Emerging technologies are new fields, such as AI, quantum and semiconductors, that will decide jobs, defence and the economy in the coming decades. Exams ask about the year, ministry, target and budget of each mission, and what a technology does. Some figures change with new budgets, so check current affairs before the exam.

1. Science policies

Policy	Main idea
Scientific Policy Resolution, 1958	Nehru era; build scientific temper, research institutions and trained people.
Technology Policy Statement, 1983	Self-reliance in technology; absorb imported technology.
S&T Policy, 2003	Raise research spending; link science with industry.
STI Policy, 2013	Added innovation ('science, technology and innovation for the people'); more private R&D.
Draft STIP, 2020 and after	Open science, decentralised, people-centred research; the Anusandhan National Research Foundation (ANRF) Act, 2023 created a national research funder chaired by the PM; a Research, Development and Innovation (RDI) scheme (2025) funds private-sector research.

2. National missions

Key national missions

Mission	Year and aim
National Quantum Mission	2023; about ₹6,004 crore to 2030–31 (DST); quantum computers (50–1,000 qubits), secure quantum communication, sensors and materials.
IndiaAI Mission	2024; about ₹10,372 crore (MeitY); shared AI computing (GPUs), Indian foundation models, datasets (AIKosh), skills and safe AI.
India Semiconductor Mission	2021; about ₹76,000 crore incentive programme (MeitY) for chip fabs, assembly and testing units and chip design.
National Green Hydrogen Mission	2023; ₹19,744 crore (MNRE); 5 million tonnes a year by 2030, made by electrolysis of water using renewable power.
Deep Ocean Mission	2021 (Ministry of Earth Sciences); Samudrayaan: crewed submersible Matsya 6000 to reach 6,000 m; deep-sea minerals and biodiversity.
Other missions	National Supercomputing Mission (2015); NM-ICPS (2018): Technology Innovation Hubs for cyber-physical systems; National Critical Mineral Mission (2025): lithium, cobalt and rare earths; Atal Innovation Mission (2016, NITI Aayog): Atal Tinkering Labs in schools; BioE3 policy (2024) for biotechnology manufacturing.
Space	ISRO (research and missions), IN-SPACe (2020): authorises and promotes private space companies; NSIL (2019): ISRO's commercial arm; Indian Space Policy 2023; Chandrayaan-3 landed near the lunar south pole on 23 August 2023 (now National Space Day); Aditya-L1 studies the Sun from the L1 point; Gaganyaan (human spaceflight); launch centre: Sriharikota (Andhra Pradesh).

3. Emerging technologies in one line each

Technology	What it is
Artificial intelligence (AI)	Machines that learn from data to recognise, predict or create (text, images); generative AI creates new content.
Quantum technology	Uses qubits that can be 0 and 1 at once (superposition) and entanglement; quantum key distribution makes eavesdropping detectable.
Blockchain	A shared ledger copied on many computers; records are linked and cannot be changed without the network agreeing (used in land records, supply chains).
Internet of Things (IoT), 5G and 6G	Everyday devices connected and sending data (smart meters, sensors); 5G launched in India in October 2022 for high speed and low delay; Bharat 6G Vision (2023).
